VILLA ATTACKS COLUMBUS; KILLS SIXTEEN AMERICANS

U. S. TROOPERS CHASE BANDITS FOR FIVE MILES INTO MEXICO

Mexicans Make Stand and Stop Americans' Advance—Troopers Return to Columbus—Villa Followers Are Led to Attack Under Slogan "Death to the Americans"—Bandits Fire Many Buildings.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 9.—Major Frank Tompkins, commanding the detachment of American troops which pursued General Villa and his bandits into Mexico after an attack early today on Columbus, N. M., have returned to the border, after engaging in three running fights with the Mexicans, who finally made a stand which stopped the advance of the American soldiers.

This information was conveyed tonight to Major General Frederick Funston, commanding the southern department, United States army, in an official report on the situation from Colonel H. F. Slocum in command at Columbus.

"All peaceful as a summer morning at this writing," was the way Colonel Slocum described the situation in Columbus tonight.

Following is the text of Colonel Slocum's report as given out by General Funston at Fort Sam Houston:

"When Villa troops fell back just before daylight, we followed them with a dismounted line. At the same time I sent Major Tompkins with three troops mounted to attack Tompkins followed them for about five miles into Mexico having three running fights with them and they finally made a stand with their entire force and stopped Tompkins' advance and he returned here. We had one corporal killed in the pursuit. The Mexicans dropped considerable material and loot that they had gotten in town. I am reliably informed that it was Villa who made the attack with fifteen hundred men leaving about 1,000 on the river east of Boca Grande.

"From his spies in Columbus, he was informed that there was but four troops here with three machine guns. Three of our troops being out he took this opportunity to attack us.

"He intended capturing the town, looting the bank and killing all Americans. Our casualties were five wounded, seven killed. Lieutenant Benson was shot in the arm. Captain Williams, adjutant received a slight wound in the hand. Eight civilians were killed in the town. We have already buried twenty-seven Mexican soldiers most of them killed in the camp, some near the bank and there are many other dead Mexicans on Villa's line of retreat about one mile west not yet collected.

"Mexican troops under Villa's personal command and by his orders made the charge thru the camp. Our troops turned out quickly and drove the Mexicans out killing seventeen. About ten or twelve Mexicans were killed in the town. While our people at that time of the morning were surprised they did their work well. Villa's attempt to capture the camp and town was a complete failure.

"I recommend one battalion of infantry, one squadron of the Eighth Cavalry to be sent here and that the mounted troops be used to follow up Villa, leaving the infantry to protect the town.

"I do not believe Villa will make another attempt here. Several of our families living in town had narrow escapes as the attack was fierce. All peaceful as summer morning at this writing. I have sent five wounded to Fort Bliss. The dead will follow. All troops now here."

Fires Many Buildings.

Columbus, N. M., March 9.—Francisco Villa, outlawed Mexican bandit, raided United States territory today. With 500 men he attacked Columbus, killed at least sixteen Americans and fired many buildings before he was driven back across the international border. At least 250 troopers of the Thirteenth United States Cavalry followed the Villa band into Mexico. Reports to Colonel H. J. Slocum late today stated that Villa had made a stand fifteen miles south of the border where spirited fighting ensued. In this engagement an unnamed private was killed. Captain George Williams, adjutant of the 138th cavalry, wounded.

Edward John Wright, formerly of Houston, and Frank Hayden, a youth employed at the Laboer sawmill, were taken from the Wright ranch March 1 and presumably killed. When she was taken prisoner and forced to ride away with detachment of Villa's men under Colonel Nicholas Servantes, she said a bandit ordered her to give her baby to a Mexican family.

Tells Story of Her Capture.

Mrs. Wright was cared for today at the home of Mrs. Slocum, wife of Colonel H. S. Slocum, commanding the Thirteenth cavalry. There she told the story of her capture and experiences from the time she was taken from the ranch at Colonel Hernandez, west of Pierson, where the de facto Mexican government was reported to have maintained a heavy garrison for the protection of Americans.

Up to yesterday, she said, Villa wore civilian's clothing, a queer little round straw hat and rode a small mule, but just before the fight this morning he appeared clad in the trim military uniform he used to wear at Pierson and rode one of three handsome sorrel chargers which had not been ridden during the long march. Mrs. Wright said Villa led nearly 1,500 men upon the sleeping American town at which were quartered less than 300 American troopers.

She said that some of the men detailed to guard her during the march told her that Villa had 3,000 men and 6,000 horses.

"It appeared to me as if he had twice that many men and horses," she added.

Just before she and her husband were taken prisoners with the Hayden boy, Mrs. Wright said the Villa men told her they had raided Colonia, Juarez, an American Mormon settlement west of Pierson, looted all stores of flour and provisions and had killed some of the foreigners. She had learned nothing further in corroboration of this story, she said.

Burned Bodies Are Identified.

Bodies burned in the Commercial hotel were identified as Charles DeWitt Miller, Albuquerque; Dr. H. M. Hart, cattle inspector from El Paso; W. A. Davidson, member of Company K, Texas guard, El Paso.

Miller was identified by a fraternity ring. Hart, known to have been in the hotel, has not been seen since. Only charred fragments of bodies were recovered.

The body of Walton Walker, a Sunday school convention delegate from Playas, N. M., who was shot to death with W. T. Ritchie, proprietor of the hotel, also was incinerated.

The Mexicans set the hotel on fire together with a number of other buildings, and posted snipers to pick off Americans as they fled.

Mrs. M. J. James was shot and killed in the doorway of another hotel in which she was running with her sister. Mrs. James fell dying over the body of C. C. Miller, who had been driven from his drug store across the street, her sister, a child not yet in her teens, escaped the fusillade without a scratch. Mrs. James' husband was wounded.

Women Have Narrow Escapes.

Mrs. S. T. F. Ryan, wife of the captain of Troop E, and Captain Rudolph Smyser of Troop H, with Mrs. Smyser and her little children had narrow escapes from the bandits. The Ryan house fronts Regimental headquarters and the ditch up along which Villa's troops came. It was riddled with bullets as Mrs. Ryan lay in bed in the front room.

Mrs. Ryan was in bed in line with a front window facing the ditch in which Villa opened the attack. Bullets shattered the glass and plunged thru her clothing, arranged on a chair at the foot of the bed. Fred Griffin, private of K troop, was on sentry duty in front of the headquarters and opened fire on a party of Mexicans attacking the quarters of

GERMANY DECLARES WAR ON PORTUGAL

THIRTEEN COUNTRIES ARE ENGAGED IN INTERNATIONAL STRUGGLE

Fighting Between French and Germans Northwest of Verdun Has Not Stuckened—Russ Take Offensive at Various Points.

Germany has declared war on Portugal. Thus thirteen countries are engaged in the international struggle.

The declaration of war was made by Germany chiefly on account of the recent seizure of German merchantmen interned in Portuguese ports and Portugal's refusal to rescind this action and once more place the ships under the German flag. A long series of alleged breaches of neutrality by the Portuguese government also were contributing factors.

Fighting between the French and the Germans northwest of Verdun has in no wise slackened. Particularly violent have been the attacks of the Germans to the north of Verdun, around Daumont, the village of Vaux and Port Vaux, but according to Paris they went for naught.

The Germans were thrown in solid formation against trenches of the French bordering the foot of the ridge dominating Fort Vaux, which the latest German official report said the Germans had captured but the French drove back the attacking forces with "enormous losses."

Northeast of the fort the Germans essayed an assault against the village of Vaux, from which they previously had been driven by the French but also they were repulsed with heavy casualties. To the west of the Meuse mid-way between Bethincourt and the river, the French have continued on the offensive in the Corbeaux wood and are officially reported to have driven the Germans from almost all of the important salients.

In the eastern theatre the Russians at various points have taken the offensive against German advanced positions, but Berlin declares they nowhere met with successes.

The Russians on the Black Sea coast continue to press on toward Turkey's principal port, Trebizond and also are making progress against the Ottoman position in the Persia sector. The Russian foreign office categorically denies that Turkey has made peace proposals of any kind.

CHICAGO, Mar. 9.—Melville Reeves was arrested here today and taken to Addison, Ill., as the alleged murderer of Peter Rotermund, assistant cashier of the Addison State Bank. Rotermund was shot while resisting a robber October 25th, 1915. Reeves gained the soubriquet of "Skyscraper burglar" because of numerous thefts from office buildings which were charged to him. He and his young wife were indicted on various charges, but they were acquitted. Reeves was last questioned by the police after the home of J. Ogden Armour had been robbed and he and his wife then proved to be officers that they had been living a quiet, honest life in a church home for many months.

MASKED MEN DRAG PHYSICIAN FROM HOME AND HORSEWHIP HIM

MATTOONA, Ill., March 9.—Dr. W. C. Kirmery of Allenview, twelve miles from here, was severely horsewhipped by a mob here last night. The chastisement was a substitute for a lynching which some of the mob demanded in retaliation for the physician's abuse of his wife.

His story which inflamed the mob was that on Tuesday night Dr. Kirmery came home intoxicated and attacked his wife who was in bed ill of pneumonia. She is said to have crawled under the bed, but was driven out by a stove poker and water.

Mrs. Kirmery is at a hospital now, her face and body swollen from the treatment said to have been inflicted on her by her husband. The mob broke six horsewhips over the doctor.

WASHINGTON STANDS BEHIND COL. SLOCUM

ARMY WILL BE GIVEN FREE REIN TO CATCH BANDITS

Lansing Informs de facto Government He Trusted No Objection Would Be Made to Action of Troops—Fully Prepared to Meet Objections, Should Any Arise.

Washington, March 9.—Washington stands squarely behind Colonel Slocum in sending his cavalrymen into Mexico in pursuit of Francisco Villa and his band of outlaws who raided Columbus, N. M., today, murdering American soldiers and citizens and firing the town.

Secretary Lansing tonight informed the de facto government of Mexico thru Elizeo Arredondo, its ambassador designate here, that he trusted no objection would be made to the action of the American troops, they having followed what is known in military circles as a "hot trail." No orders have been issued for the return of the soldiers and it is not probable any will be issued for the present.

Shocked indignation occasioned by news of Villa's outrage was quickly succeeded by undisguised satisfaction in official and congressional circles of the knowledge that after three years of patient forbearance United States troops actually were on Mexican soil to avenge the death of their comrades and bring to justice the outlaws whose depredations have terrorized Americans on both sides of the border.

While no formal word of the policy of the administration was given out it was reliably stated that the army would be given free rein to catch the bandits if possible. It was not considered in administration circles that Colonel Slocum's act in any sense constituted in any way an invasion of Mexico, a policy which the administration has opposed in the past and will continue to oppose.

The state department at first had planned to ask permission of the Carranza government to send troops across the border in pursuit of the outlaw band. Then came official word that the cavalry already had crossed. Later, Mr. Arredondo called upon Secretary Lansing and expressed regrets for the Villa raid and was informed of the attitude of the United States. Mr. Arredondo said he would communicate with General Carranza immediately. On the expressing of hope that the Carranza government would not object to the crossing of the troops, the state department was said to fully realize that there might be objections and it was fully prepared to meet them should they arise. Persons who talked with Mr. Arredondo however gathered the impression that he at least seems to believe the Carranza government might not object, it being understood that the American troops were simply hunting down bandits whose depredations have long been a source of trouble, not only to the United States, but to the de facto government.

SHERMAN BELIEVES INTERVENTION IN MEXICO IS ONLY SOLUTION

PRINCETON, Ill., Mar. 9.—Armed intervention in Mexico is the solution of present difficulties there, is the opinion of Senator Lawrence V. Sherman in a statement to the newspapers here today in discussing the trouble.

"We should send an army to the border, not only to protect American soldiers but to go across and make the Mexicans respect us," said Senator Sherman. "We may expect occurrences of this kind while we continue our indecisive policy," Senator Sherman added.

PENNSYLVANIA'S MANHATTAN LIMITED CRASHES INTO WRECK

ALTOONA, Pa., Mar. 9.—The Manhattan Limited train of Pennsylvania railroad bound from New York to Chicago crashed into a freight wreck near Port Royal tonight, derailing every car of the passenger train and hurling the locomotive down an embankment. The engineer and fireman of the limited were buried under their engine and are believed to have been killed.

All the passengers were badly shaken up and several slightly injured, but so far as can be ascertained none was seriously hurt.

BAKER IS SWORN IN.

Washington, March 9.—Newton D. Baker was sworn in today as secretary of war. The oath was administered by John Randolph, assistant chief clerk, who has been with the department for nearly fifty years and has administered the oath to many of Mr. Baker's predecessors. The new secretary in an informal reception at his office then met most of the army officers in Washington.

TRAINMEN WANT EIGHT HOUR DAY

Favor Authorizing Union Heads to Negotiate With Roads

STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Demands Will Be Presented to Railroads and They Have Thirty Days to Reply

ROADS TO FIGHT CONDITIONS

CHICAGO, Mar. 9.—It was officially announced here tonight that the vote of 400,000 engineers, firemen and trainmen of American railroads overwhelmingly favored authorizing union heads to enter into negotiations with the railroads for an eight hour day.

The following statement was issued:

"While the returns from the membership of these four organizations are not completed it is evident that the vote is overwhelmingly in favor of presenting to the railway companies of the United States the requests for the eight hour day and the time and one half for overtime. Consequently the movement with that object in view will be carried forward in its regular course.

"The present vote has no significance except as an indicator of the desire of the men that this matter should be pressed to a conclusion and all reports that it has any significance as a strike vote are misleading. In the immediate future the requests will be presented to the railway management and the new steps taken to make the same effective."

The statement was signed by W. S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, A. D. Garrettson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors; W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and W. C. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

According to Mr. Stone, returns not yet in, cannot possibly affect the result. The demands in a few days will be presented to the railroads and they will have thirty days in which to make reply.

The roads have made it plain that they intend to fight the proposed conditions.

Upon their refusal to accede to the requests which is taken as foregone conclusion committees representing both sides will be appointed to negotiate a settlement if possible. The railroads it is said, will insist upon arbitration under the Erdman act if the private negotiations fail.

REPUBLICANS AGREE ON MEMBERSHIP OF COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9.—Republican senators and representatives agreed tonight in the house chamber agreed on the membership of the 1916 congressional campaign committee and discussed informally what steps should be taken to regain control of congress at the November elections. It was understood after the meeting adjourned that Representative Frank P. Woods of Iowa, would be re-elected chairman of the committee when it meets in a day or two to organize and that representative William B. McKinley of Illinois, a former chairman would be made head of an executive subcommittee. This arrangement, it was said, had been accepted as satisfactory by both wings of the party.

Committeemen from all the states except New Mexico, whose member is Senator Fall, are representatives.

The East St. Louis primary election, at which twelve votes were cast, cost the city $2,500, adding its fraction to the high cost of government in that place.

The proposed West State street pavement, to cost abutting property owners about $1.54 per front foot, should be something very fine. It has been suggested that the present pavement might be silver-plated without increasing the cost.

Henry Morgenthau, ambassador to Turkey, who is home on a leave of absence, makes the very pertinent remark: "We ought to do the same with respect to the war fever as we have against other infectious diseases. We ought to inoculate ourselves with the serum of sanity and sobriety." These words ring true.

Has anyone heard of that decision of the state utilities board which our local people were to expedite a few weeks ago? Between the medical experts and electrical experts we were promised an immediate show-down on the part of the utilities experts. Can it be that we overestimated the power of our local authorities?

One of the hopeful signs, in the honor system, is that the state athletic board is framing a standard for high school students who participate in state contests. One of these is that the players must be bona fide students in good standing of the school on whose team they are. With it should go the injunction that they must be up in their studies. Boys go to the high schools in the first place not for play, but for work, and the character of the work that they do is represented by the standing that they have in their studies.

Senator Lodge shares with Senator Gallinger the distinction of longest continuous service on any one committee. Senator Lodge has served for twenty-two years without a break on the committee on immigration, of which he became a member when he entered the senate in 1893. Senator Gallinger has served a like term on the District of Columbia committee. Senator Penrose runs both men a close second with nineteen years to his credit—or otherwise, as you require.

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

BONEHEAD PLAYS.

We might, as graveward we advance, know naught but golden days, if we did not, at every chance, chance, indulge in bonehead plays. For nearly all the ills we know and all the pains and aches, originated long ago, in our own foolish breaks. Man labors in his stealwart years, and when he draws his pay, he blows it in for long cold beers, and that's a bonehead play. The schoolboy, Mother's Little Pet, up on a summer day, learns how to smoke a cigarette, and that's a bonehead play. The damsel learns to paint and sing, to dance the night away, but sidesteps every useful thing, and that's a bonehead play. All carelessly man goes in debt for grub and clothes and hay, and knows, when lawyers make him sweat, it was a bonehead play. To buy a gaudy choo-choo cart, man signs his home away, and says some day, with breaking heart, "It was a bonehead play." This life of ours should be sublime, our hearts should all be glad; but we pull boneheads all the time, and that's why life is sad.

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

gard him—on the immigration committee. The probability is the three men will retain their positions until death or voluntary retirement ends their political careers. Each has a tenacious grip on his constituency that the ebb and flow of political fortune has not shaken seriously.

The Honor System.

In commenting on the Bryn Mawr girl who resigned as treasurer of the self-government association rather than report an infraction of the rules Dr. MacCracken, president of Vassar, said that had the Bryn Mawr girl been a Vassar girl she would have had the responsibility of reporting the infraction, even tho she had not been an officer, and that her resignation would in no wise have affected her responsibility. "Dr. MacCracken," states an interview with the president of Vassar, "believes that an honor system should be for all; but no system should require one girl to tell on another. The responsibility of telling should always be left with the individual. It is an ethical matter which every girl must decide for herself."

Clears German Agents.

The report of the Youngstown grand jury, in arraigning steel company officials for acts calculated to provoke industrial disorder, gives the German government a clean bill. Dissatisfaction among the men, says the jury's report, was the underlying cause of the recent strike and riot, and it finds nothing to indicate that any foreign government was concerned with the trouble. The dissatisfaction, it adds, prevailed among the skilled workmen as well as among the common laborers who struck.

This finding should stay the disposition to attribute all industrial disturbances in munition-making plants to the influence of German agents.

Two Illuminating Excerpts.

In 1827 a senate committee reported as follows just before Slug Sing prison was built:

"To make any impression upon the mind of either convicts or the public there must be suffering (on the part of the inmates) and to make any adequate impression such suffering as will excite feelings of terror."

Within a few weeks Thomas Mott Osborne during the course of a lecture on prison reform said:

"The prison should aim to restore to society a man who, thru the education he has gained, is decent and capable of living an honest and useful life."

These quotations throw more light upon the battle going on between the sometimes-derided reformers and the reactionaries than a congressional library full of reports and statistics ever could.

Mr. Bryan Cannot Qualify.

Dr. Alois Heilinger, member of the Austrian parliament, has nominated William Jennings Bryan, chautauquan, peace talker, former secretary of state, Warwick, and customary Democratic candidate for president, for Nobel peace prize for 1916. This prize is not only honorable but pecuniarily worth while, since $40,000 goes with it. Mr. Bryan craves honor, says the Globe, and he has never been conspicuously indifferent to the appeal of $40,000, or any other "dignified sum," to quote a gentleman who once brought some sleepless hours to illustrious Missouri Democrats. There has been a persistent belief that Mr. Bryan has had covetous eyes on a Nobel prize ever since his dearest enemy, Colonel Roosevelt, was awarded one. When he went about the country talking about his benevolent navy, composed of Friendship, Kinship and Goodwill, he was thought to be bidding for the peace prize. His ecstasy over his numerous peace treaties was malignantly ascribed to the same secret yearning. When he resigned from the cabinet to help the president by opposing him, he professed to have sunk every earthly ambition in the cause of peace.

But Dr. Heilinger overlooks all these heroic services. The ground of his motion that Mr. Bryan be awarded the peace prize is "his endeavors to stop American exports of munitions." But this is the one thing Mr. Bryan has not attempted. On the contrary, while he was secretary of state, he wrote a letter to Senator Stone, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, in which he solely argued that this country could not prevent such exports, under international law, after a war had started, unless its own military necessities required it. This was not one of those Lansing notes, which he signed under orders of his superior. It was an unofficial note, written on his own motion. So he is disqualified for high honors on the grounds set forth by Dr. Heilinger. Or did he privately express other views to Dr. Dumbach? By the way, when does he expect to publish the memoranda of his conversation with Dr. Dumbach, which he says the president subsequently approved, in private?

George Wilson Observes

Eighty-first Birthday.

Geo. Wilson celebrated his 81st birthday Wednesday, very happily at his home, 331 Sandusky St. The bad condition of the roads kept a number of the family away, as all had expected to enjoy dinner together at the hospitable time of their party. Mr. Wilson received a great many post cards, and some other gifts from friends.

During the afternoon, a number of neighbors and church friends called to offer congratulations.

A splendid dinner was served. A large birthday cake was made by Mrs. Earl Lukerman, a grand daughter of Mr. Wilson's.

Altho confined to the house for a number of years, Mr. Wilson is always cheerful and bright and has the best of care given him by his faithful wife.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lukerman, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fawcett and daughter Ursula, Mrs. Walter Wood and Ernest Wilson.

Miss Wilson Hostess

to Sinclair Club.

The Sinclair Country club met with Miss Anna May Wilson Wednesday afternoon and the program was an interesting one, bad roads prevented the attendance of several of the members. An old-fashioned spelling match was a feature of the afternoon and in this contest Mrs. Richard Robinson was winner. Splendid refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting of the club will be held with Mrs. Minnie Wilson.

Lieut. John P. Lucas, commanding the machine gun troop of the Thirtieth cavalry, Griffin fell, mortally wounded, under a volley of bullets, but killed two Mexicans and then crawled to the side of the Ryan home. Mrs. Ryan had meanwhile risen and ran around the side of the house under fire of the Mexicans to an adobe garage. A party of bandits was standing about Griffin. She opened the garage when a Mexican grasped her arm and demanded where she was going. She answered calmly that she was going into the building to get a motor car. The Mexican let her go and during the warm fighting in the camp she remained in the automobile unhurt. Every piece of furniture in the Ryan home was riddled.

Smyser Home Is Surrounded.
The Smyser home, north of the track, was surrounded on front and both sides by bandits before a shot was fired. Captain Smyser heard someone tell the bandits that an American army officer and his family lived there. Gathering his wife and children he emerged from the back door and reached the barn just as the bandits broke in the door.

The bandits looted the house and were preparing to set fire to the barn when the American forces opened fire. The bandits looted the house, leaving Mrs. Smyser nothing but the nightgown in which she escaped. Captain Smyser managed to join his troop in time to participate in the battle in which the Mexicans finally were driven from the town.

Captain F. G. Turner and his wife were in an adobe house just north of the railroad tracks. Mexicans pointed out this dwelling as a house occupied by an American army officer. They remained inside until the troops in camp got into action and scattered the bandits.

Villa dropped his personal papers as he went with his fleeing men back into Mexico. A note found among these, evidently a transcript of an order just before the attack, read "kill the gingers."

Lebarido Marquez was captured by American troops. He is charged with having guided Villa to the border and pointed out houses where prominent American civilians, American officers and soldiers lived.

ASKS ENGLAND FOR COPY OF CONFIDENTIAL INSTRUCTIONS

United States Is Understood to Have Made Request Thru Ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice.

Washington, March 9. — The United States has asked Great Britain for a copy of the confidential instructions to commanders of British merchant vessels, which Germany claims prove that merchantmen, armed ostensibly for defensive purposes, have orders to act offensively against German and Austrian submarines. The request is understood to have been made today thru Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador.

This is the first step the United States has taken since administration officials began studying the complete memorandum, in which Germany announced its intention to treat as warships armed merchantmen of the entente allies, its appendices and the subsequent memoranda on the subject submitted by Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador.

There were strong intimations tonight that the British government later would be given an opportunity to answer all the German charges and to comment upon the twenty incidents where Germany claims defensively armed ships have acted offensively toward submarines of the European powers.

The inquiry to Great Britain was determined upon as a means of obtaining an accurate understanding of the British attitude.

The British government already has given out for publication a copy of instructions said to have been issued to the commanders of British merchantmen.

The German version of the contents as submitted to the state department is materially different.

THIRTY OR MORE CARRANZA MEN ARE EXECUTED BY BANDITS

LAREDO, Texas, March 9.—Thirty or more Carranza soldiers, including a number of officers, were executed by bandits three days ago near Torreon, according to authentic information received here tonight. The bandits were reported to be adherents of General Villa and were commanded by Colonel Chacon.

The men executed, a lieutenant colonel, two majors, several minor officers and 24 privates were taken from a train enroute from Torreon to Monterey, it was said and were shot by the side of the cars. Other passengers were not molested. No further activities of the bandits have been reported. It is believed they fled to the hills. Troops of the defacto government were ordered to keep a strict watch for their reappearance.

GREENE COUNTY COUPLE REFUSED LICENSE

Thursday afternoon William H. Spencer and Miss Hazel Adeyl Smock both of Greene county appeared at the county clerk's office to secure a license for marriage. It developed that the groom was only nineteen years of age. He had brought his father with him to overcome this obstacle. However, County Clerk Boruff explained that the parent could only consent to the marriage of a minor in the county in which the parties lived. The couple were greatly disappointed but decided to take the afternoon train for Carrollton, secure a license and have the ceremony performed.

MOLINE WINS SENSATIONAL VICTORY OVER CANTON

Overtime Game Goes to Moline 34 to 33. — Duquoin Downs Shelbyville and Joliet Trims Granite City.

Decatur, Ill., March 9.—Moline's sensational victory over Canton inaugurated the state high school basketball finals here tonight, Moline winning 34 to 33 in an overtime game. Canton was leading by one point until a foul was called with a few seconds to play making it possible for Moline to tie the score. Wedlerquist tossed the free throw and made the only point in the overtime period the same way.

DuQuoin registered an easy victory over Shelbyville, 40 to 25, Harrell being the star performer. It was the dispute over Harrell's age which resulted in DuQuoin being barred from the first tournament, reinstatement coming Wednesday.

The final game, Joliet trimmed Granite City, 43 to 22, in comparatively easy fashion, altho both teams fought savagely.

East Aurora meets Robinson at 2:30 Friday afternoon; Rockford playing Springfield at 3:30.

Friday evening Bloomington plays Joliet in the opening game, Moline meeting the winner of the East Aurora-Robinson contest in the second.

Saturday the semi-finals will be played in the afternoon and the finals in the evening.

SWEDISH-AMERICAN REPUBLICAN LEAGUE HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

PRINCETON, Ill., March 9.—Members of the Swedish-American Republican league of Illinois assembled at the annual banquet of the organization here tonight as an incident to the twenty-second annual convention of the society. Many of the Republican leaders of the state, especially of the Deneen-West wing of the party, were present.

Lawrence Y. Sherman, United States senator and candidate for the presidential nomination of the party, was guest of honor. He delivered a speech in which he denounced the national Democratic administration, particularly as to its economics. He said that the European war "saved the face" of the Democratic tariff policy and he predicted disaster to American industries unless a protective tariff is re-enacted before the end of the big conflict.

Henry R. Rathbone of Chicago, chairman of the political action committee of the Hamilton club, endorsed Swedish-Americans as citizens and predicted a Republican victory next November.

Charles S. Anderson, mayor of Princeton, was toastmaster. The convention will end tomorrow.

TROLLEY BENEFIT NEXT WEEK FOR ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Forty-eight Young Women Will Serve as Conductors and Net Proceeds Will Be Turned Over to Charity Work.

The second annual Associated Charities trolley benefit day will be observed Thursday, March 16, and Mrs. E. P. Cleary, chairman of the committee, is preparing a list of forty-eight young women to serve as conductors on all cars of the Jacksonville street railway. Supt. W. B. Miser has generously offered the net proceeds of the day mentioned for charity work, and all money taken in above necessary operating expenses will be turned over for aiding in the relief of the poor of Jacksonville.

The first trolley benefit day was held in December, 1914, two days before Christmas. The event was quite successful and this year the date of the annual spring opening was selected. The conductors will serve in four shifts and two women will be stationed on each car, taking their places in the front so as to intercept the fares as the passengers board the car. It is not the usual custom on such days to return change and the conductors will welcome contributions both large and small.

NEW LOCATION FOR PLUMBING AND HEATING COMPANY

The Jacksonville Plumbing and Heating company expect about the first of April to change their quarters from North Main street to the room recently vacated by Simon Calky in the Scott block, just west of the court house. The company is composed of George F. Brown, Spencer I. Taylor and J. N. Deatherage and for eight years has occupied the present location and during that time a substantial business has been built up. For more than a year they worked on a contract connected with the State hospital building at Alton and completed it to the satisfaction of all concerned.

WHY

are investors and farmers from all states buying South Dakota land NOW?

BECAUSE

They "jumped on a train", investigated conditions for themselves and found that

South Dakota is the Best Place To Own a Farm

There is just enough rainfall. Otherwise how could South Dakota yield such big crops? Fifteen years average precipitation is 22 inches, of which 17 inches comes in the crop-growing months. The long sunny days and "Indian Summers" do the rest.

Those days of sunshine and dry crisp air of winter are enemies of sickness, too. That is why we have the lowest death rate in the United States.

Good Climate - Good Health -- Good Crops

What More Could You Ask?

And the best of it is you still can come and obtain improved and producing Brown County land for $40 to $90 per acre.

Tooth Loose? Watch out for Pyorrhea!

When you find a tooth that gives back and forth even just a little, see your dentist at once

He will find conditions which you might overlook. He will find a gum recession, even though slight, where the gums have pulled away from the teeth. And he will tell you that you have the dread disease pyorrhea.

From pyorrhea come by far the greater part of all tooth troubles. Unless treated and checked, it will result not only in the shrinking and malformation of your gums and of the bony structure into which your teeth are set, but in the loss of the teeth themselves.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today, or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Sentel Remedies Company 503 Union Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

LAYMEN'S REVIVAL AT ROODHOUSE MAKING EXCELLENT PROGRESS

Frank McDonald of Arthur, Ill., in Charge of Singing—Rev. Mr. Fletcher Is Speaker of Great Power.

Roodhouse, Ill., March 9.—The Layman's revival is well under way at this time and has developed into a wonderful meeting in a united effort to induce people to seek the straight and narrow way. The Baptist church is the most commodious edifice in the city and it has been taxed to its capacity every night of the meeting. The chorus led by Mr. Frank McDonald of Arthur, Ill., comes to the front one hundred voices strong and the music rendered by that aggregation is most pleasing. Mr. McDonald is a wonderful singer. His deep rich barytone contains a strong appeal to join the rank and file of the Christians.

Rev. Ernest L. Fletcher of Gibson City who is conducting the meeting is a man of wonderful personality and great drawing power. His sermons are well rendered and are intended to entreat or admonish rather than terrorize the unsaved. His style of delivery is most pleasing.

The evangelistic campaign was managed by the business men of this city and it has obtained wonderful results in the way of attendance. The "sky-pilots" lead the hosts, but readily concede the fact the layman are responsible for the success of the meeting. All sectarian ideas are banished as the Christian, Methodist and Baptist churches labor in unison for the upbuilding of their cause.

The music is furnished by Rev. C. C. Smith of the Baptist church, who is a past master at the pipe organ. Dr. Smith is accompanied on piano by A. R. Hill, who was the musical director for E. J. Forsythe, evangelistic worker, in the east some time ago. Miss Irene Jolly, also noted for her ability to handle the piano, is assisting the organist. Today at the noon hour, a prayer meeting was held at the roundhouse office of the C. & A. railroad and much interest was made manifest. Cottage prayer meetings are in vogue in all parts of the city and are well attended. The united effort toward the revival of latent Christianity in this city is wonderful in its effects. It is predicted that a wave of conversions will begin to move in the near future which will astound the community. This is simply the calm before the storm.

Rev. W. W. Wharton as general publicity man for the campaigners has done great work in bringing the issue before the eyes of the people. Rev. Mr. Beebe of the Methodist church has his share of the work and does it well. Dr. C. C. Smith seems satisfied to serve his portion at the organ and all who are acquainted with his ability are assured of a rare treat whenever he plays.

MANCHESTER.

Mrs. N. J. Rochester and daughter Nova were called to Nortonville Tuesday by the death of Mrs. Jas. Rochester.

Mrs. Harvey Duncan and children of Roodhouse spent Tuesday with Jno. Duncan and family. The two younger boys remained for a longer stay.

Mrs. Peter Spencer has been very sick again the past week.

Eugene and Arthur Rochester went over to Nortonville Thursday to attend the funeral of their brothers wife, Mrs. James Rochester.

R. N. A. Order Surprises Mrs. Jas. Bossarte Tuesday Night.

Thirty-three members of the Royal Neighbor Order gathered at the home of one of their members, Mrs. Bossarte, Tuesday night to tender her a surprise social—owing to the fact that the Bossarte family is soon to move to Jacksonville. To say that she was surprised is putting it mildly as she was about ready to retire when they arrived. It was in the nature of a pound party, each one taking some eatable for refreshments. All had a good time.

High school girls entertained the high school boys at the home of Miss Louise Lashmet Wednesday night. The members of the high school together with their teachers, Miss Sarah Small and Prin. C. L. Lettze and his wife, Mrs. Lettze and the athletic teacher, Mr. Wallace of Roodhouse enjoyed a pleasant time Wednesday night in the Lashmet home. A social time was enjoyed and later in the evening refreshments were served by the girls of the school. All had a good time.

Carey Simmons was in Jacksonville Wednesday.

OCEAN TO OCEAN HIGHWAY PROVES STRONG RIVAL OF LINCOLN ROUTE

Eastern Paper Describes Progress of Pike's Peak Way—An Excellent Route for Middle West States.

The Pike's Peak ocean to ocean highway is being gradually pushed eastward and now has been extended into Pennsylvania. Regarding the new way the Philadelphia Inquirer of Feb. 23 has the following to say:

"Pennsylvania will be interested to know that the Lincoln highway from coast to coast, has a rival in the Pike's Peak ocean to ocean highway. This is not intended as a substitute for the former, but as several lines are certain to be mapped out for good trunk roads, the new Pike's Peak organization is working intelligently and efficiently. In its origin the movement seems to be a Middle Western affair rather than from Colorado, as the name might indicate. In part it may have grown out of dissatisfaction with the route of the Lincoln highway, which has Chicago for its pivotal center.

"A few days ago the delegations from various states met in Indianapolis and finally charted the route. Experimental tours had been made over all available roads and this is the one they decided upon. Beginning at San Francisco, the road touches Salt Lake, Glenwood Springs, Colorado Springs, Belleville, Kan.; St. Joseph, Mo.; Hannibal, Mo.; Springfield, Ill.; Indianapolis, Richmond, Ind.; Dayton, Springfield, O.; Columbus to Pittsburgh. At the latter city it joins on to the Penn highway, which this state is constructing thru Altoona, Huntingdon, Harrisburg and Reading to this city. From Harrisburg a branch line is to extend to New York.

"This makes an excellent route of the middle states and the southern people are at work mapping one out from Charleston thru New Orleans to Los Angeles. The Pike's Peak route is now available thruout its entire length, altho only a comparatively small portion of it is first-class highway. Beyond the Mississippi almost all of it is unimproved, but many persons have made the trip without serious difficulty. Of course, it will take a good many years to have this or any other coast-to-coast route anything like what automobilists desire, but a good beginning has been made on three routes and this generation ought to see all of them completed."

A BEAUTIFUL SERVICE

A Kansas City paper contains the following account of the funeral of Miss Jean Downing, daughter of P. F. Downing, an alumnus of Illinois College and so well known in this city. Mr. Downing was of the class of 1879.

To die early is not to fail. We live in deeds, not in years. Remember, your life is all you have. You make it or mar it just once.

Jean Downing, daughter of Mr. Mrs. John F. Downing, 56 East Armour Boulevard, who died Monday afternoon, was placed in the Burham mausoleum, Mount Washington Cemetery, yesterday afternoon, following the funeral at the home. The services were conducted by the Westminster Congregational Church.

Doctor Turk's high tribute to Jean was recognized by those who were privileged to know the young girl, as peculiarly on the spiritual side of her character, for her buoyant, happy and hearty disposition, the spirit that made her excel in her studies and in athletics was more obvious to her friends and companions.

A large part of the service was devoted to reading extracts from a book of sermons by the Rev. J. B. Silcox, who was Jean's pastor when she united with the church. These passages had been marked by Jean in her readings and revealed a comprehension of even the most profound thoughts. One of these sermons was read to Jean last Sunday by one of her teachers, Miss Joyce Welch, who was interrupted by her auditor when she reached the quotation at the head of this article. In a way that seemed almost prophetic in the light of the events of a few hours later—Jean dwelt upon the beauty and the value of this passage. Among the many other markings were these:

The eye that shuts in the dying hour Will open the next in bliss; The welcome will sound in the heavenly world.

'Ere the farewell is said in this, Life is doing the work God put you into the world to do.

One ship drives east and another west With the self-same winds that blow; It is the set of the sails, and not the gales.

That tells us the way to go. Jean's Bible was similarly marked. Mrs. George R. Cowden, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Cravens, sang, "O' the Sweetly Solemn Thought."

Many beautiful flowers denoted the affection in which Jean was held. Accompanying an elaborate piece from the Pretenders, a Barstow School dramatic society, of which Jean was a precocious member, were these lines from "Hamlet": There's rosemary, that's for remembrance; there's pansies, that's for thoughts. Sweet to the sweet; farewell.

TOO PREVIOUS

"This is my birthday," said the polite barber. "Will you have —"

"No," growled the grouchy man in the chair. "I won't have any of your dingbusted hair restorer put on my head. When I want hair restorer, I'll let you know in language so plain you couldn't misunderstand me if you tried. Until then I don't want you to remind me that my hair is getting thin. Every time I go into a barber shop I have to explain that I don't want to buy any blinked hair restorer, and I'm getting tired of it."

"I won't have anything that I don't ask for. I want a shave and nothing more. I won't have my head shampooed or half-soled. I won't have my sideboards dyed green. I won't have your genuine electric massage. I won't have bay rum poured into my ears. And I won't buy any of your jimswizzled dandruff cure or your complexion soap or any other gold bricks you have for sale."

"I don't see why barbers can't attend to their knitting without making personal remarks about their customers. I have a bald spot on my head, and I am trying so hard to forget the fact that I have taken lessons at a memory school. Most of the time the existence of that bald spot has passed out of my mind. I am reasonably comfortable and contented, but the minute I step into a barber shop, I am reminded that the bald spot is still in business at the old stand."

"The dog-drafted barber says, first clatter out of the box. 'Will you have some of my back action hair restorer?' How can a man forget his bald spot when he's up against such a conundrum? Do you realize that barbers are the only business or professional men who are forever harping on the blemishes or infirmities of their customers?"

"If I go to the shoemaker's, to be measured for a pair of shoes, he takes his surveying instruments and does his work, without reminding me that I am bowlegged. He doesn't offer to sell me a spavin cure, or something that will cure ringbones. My legs, from the knees down, might be covered with such blemishes, and the shoemaker wouldn't say a word about it. He'd measure my feet with is-tapeline, and if he said anything at all it would be something complimentary, something to the effect that I have the shapeliest toes he ever saw off the stage."

"If I go to the tailor to order a suit of clothes he doesn't remind me that I am swaybacked, and higher in one shoulder than the other. He looks at me as though he never before had seen such a sample of manly beauty. Barbers ought to do like shoemakers and tailors."

"It is my birthday," said the barber, patiently. "Will you have a cigar on me?"

LOOK AT A CHILD'S TONGUE WHEN CROSS FEVERISH AND SICK

Take No Chances. Move Poisons
From Liver and Bowels at Once.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Adv.

IN FIVE MINUTES! NO INDIGESTION, GAS OR SOUR, ACID STOMACH

The moment "Pape's Diapiesin" reaches the stomach all distress goes.

"Really does" put bad stomach in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapiesin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid, head is dizzy and aches, breath foul, tongue coated, your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapiesin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin will give you a hundred dollars worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach regulator in the world. Adv.

ISSUES NOTICE REGARDING THE STOPPING OF BARNSTORMING TRIPS

CINCINNATI, March 9.—The National baseball commission today issued a notice provided by the recent legislation by the two major leagues abolishing barnstorming trips. In its notice the commission says: "Adequate penalties on all major league players who after the promulgation of this notice may engage in games not conducted by their respective clubs will be imposed."

This action of the National and American leagues is predicted on the opposition of their respective clubs to a practice that has been abused from the standpoint of sportsmanship and has resulted in injuries to players that have impaired their ability and earning capacity.

"As the vote in each league was unanimous application for permission to engage in such barnstorming games cannot be granted by clubs to their players while the legislation referred to remains in effect."

The commission also issued a notice that the number of players who have been recalled under optional agreements and who may be released again under optional agreements is increased to five. Formerly the number was limited to two. This change was made to meet the changed conditions in baseball owing to the signing of the peace agreement recently.

THREE EYE NAMES COMMITTEES TO VISIT FREEPORT AND GALESBURG

MOLINE, Ill., March 9.—Failure of Freeport to have a representative at the meeting of the Three Eye league here today resulted in the appointment of committees to visit that city and Galesburg in an effort to see which one is the better prepared to make up the circuit. TALISMAN OF THE CELTS.

Romance of the Lia Fail, a Curious Piece of Stone

In every strongly Irish newspaper there is an article on the Lia Fail, the talisman of the Celts. And until we recover the Lia Fail, then the land will become a republic. And the readers have asked again and again: "What is the Lia Fail? Where is it and what is its magic power?" Those who remember the Fenian Rusco, some years ago, will recall the harlequin of the troops, "Ho for the Lia Fail!" The recovery of this Celtic talisman, however, would involve something more than a victory over some outlying province of Great Britain, for it is a part of the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey. It is a curious piece of stone, a little more than two feet long, and is said to be the identical stone on which Jacob rested his head when he had his marvelous dream. It was taken to the land, according to tradition, before the Christian era, and its removal from that island meant the death of liberty and independence to the Celt.

After a century of possession it was conveyed to the Ionian islands, to be used in a coronation ceremony, and was never recovered. The kings of Scotland seized and held it as their mascot. By Edward I. it was carried to London among the spoils of war when the Scottish kingdom began to totter. The son of Edward attempted to restore the stone to the Scotch, but already it had taken such hold on the superstition of the English that they feared for their country, and a mob prevented its restoration.—Exchange.

COLORS OF METEORS.

Three Stages Through Which They Pass to Reach the Earth.

An article by Alfred Wegener in the Scientific American offers an explanation of the marked difference of color observed in meteors. Up to an altitude of about forty-five miles the principal constituent of the earth's atmosphere is nitrogen. A second stratum of the atmosphere, extending up to about 125 miles, consists mainly of hydrogen. Still higher, Wegener himself has sought to prove the existence of a stratum consisting of an excessively light gas which he calls "geocoronium."

When entering the atmosphere from outer space meteors do not become luminous in the very tenuous "geocoronium sphere," but only when they enter the "hydrogen sphere," and most of them are dissipated before reaching the nitrogen atmosphere. The largest fireballs, however, penetrate deeper and may reach the earth or explode not far above it.

Dr. Wegener finds that the meteors that penetrate deep enough pass through three color stages—viz. yellow-white, green and deep red. The great majority exhibit only the first stage, in which the color twilight, yellow, sometimes reddish is that of the incandescent meteor itself. The green stage, Wegener believes to be due to the incandescence of the hydrogen through which the meteor is passing, while the deep red stage is due to the incandescence of nitrogen in the lower atmosphere.

Thrill of Being Wet.

There is something rudimentary and fundamental about having water splashed down upon one and getting completely and deliciously wet—not damp, not moist, but wet, wringing wet. You yourself when a child never enjoyed anything so much as your first drenching in an unforeseen and unavoidable rainstorm—the thrill of being wet, the cool drive of the water on your nose, into your sleeves and down your neck, and the joyous slush of soaked, water-logged boots. Even the tedium of being rubbed with alcohol, bundled up and warned you would catch your death did not diminish the event. You voted it better than the time you fell off the boat dock; it lasted longer.—Atlantic.

Criticism Implied.

"He doesn't like my cooking," sobbed the three months bride, a tear on her long lashes. "I just know he doesn't. So there!"

"What makes you think so?" her mother asked. "Has he said he doesn't like my cooking?"

"No-o-o," stammered the bride. "Nonsense, child. It's just your imagination. I felt there was no basis." "There is a basis," the bride insisted tearfully. "I had been cooking the loveliest things for him for about two weeks, and then he told me he had decided to become a raw food faddist. Bo-hoo-o-o!"—Judge.

Dr. Johnson's Homeliness.

Samuel Johnson was himself—and this is a quality rarely found in "plain" men—under no illusion as to his personal appearance. Dr. Burney tells us that on one occasion while Miss Burney was examining his portrait he peeped over her shoulder and, with a ludicrous half laugh, exclaimed: "Ah, ha, Sam Johnson! I see thee—and an ugly dog thou art!"—London Times.

Force of Habit.

"The idea of that upstairs talking back as he did to a society favorite! And they do say he was one time only a butler."

"Maybe that is why he was so quick to answer the bells."—Baltimore American.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

On the Drury Farm

On The Drury Farm Some of the Needs of Pork Producer

By F. E. Drury, Jacksonville, Illinois

Thru the courtesy of the Swine World, a well known livestock publication, the following article and illustrations are presented. The article appeared in a recent edition of the Swine World and was written by F. E. Drury of this county:

ADD SOME OF THE NEEDS OF PO By F. E. Drury, Jacksonville, Illinois

I recently asked one of our largest hog raisers what he thought was the need of the pork producer. His answer was, "Plenty of money, so he can stay in the business."

With hogs averaging close to two dollars per hundred cheaper this summer than last, with cholera prevalent over the country, and the bad experience we had in vaccination with foot and mouth infection from Chicago, it looks very reasonable to believe my friend was right. I was one of the first to try vaccination, and have had very good results with both the single and double treatment to control cholera. The starts, he will ship the well hogs and vaccinate what is left.

Now, this puts us all in quite a mixup, and the old time wave of heavy loss and then a period of comparative freedom from disease is getting to be a thing of the past.

Of late we seem to get a bad case of cholera pretty regularly and the country has hardly been free from disease for several years. Just now the most of Indiana is being swept clean by the disease, and the state authorities, which are supposed to furnish the serum to the farmers at 1c per c. c. or about the cost of production, are not able to furnish enough serum to supply the demands by many millions of cubic centimeters. Why can't the state keep on making serum in the dull time and have a great plenty on hand for cold storage, ready for such a scourge? In Illinois, our Live Stock Board tells me that there is no county in the state that has not finds that the heavy hog has become a drug on the market and sells as they did this summer, at about a dollar per 100 pounds discount from the light weight. I got thru till October, last year, then marketed a little over half the larger hogs and vaccinated with single treatment 400, losing only 10 per cent. These were fed out till spring and got off just before the big discount on heavy hogs. But the packers had ordered their buyers to let the heavy hogs alone. When the head buyer saw my hogs, however, he knew their dressing sheet would be good so he over-stepped orders and bought them, finding that they hung upon hooks 30c per hundred cheaper than any other hogs bought that day at even more money. Now I used to sell my heavy hogs to go East, sometimes to East Cambridge, Mass. We had an arrangement whereby we could sell our hogs on the hooks; they never had to be weighed till dressed, charging us for killing and paying for dressed meat. Would not this be a good plan to try and arrange for in some manner? In this manner we could get the good results of high dressing. It is not fair to sell a hog dressing 84 per cent at less money than one dressing 78 per cent, yet that is being done in our market each year, and 1 per cent is equal to 17c per hundred on the 8c market or thereabouts.

I think we should arrange if possible for some protection. Having stood all the loss consequent to the immunization of our herd, feeling that once immune we can ill afford to take the market at such light weights, having decided to finish them out to the limit of profitable feeding, according to their ability to carry weight and put on gains, it seems reasonable to expect that there should be some method devised to protect us from the raids sometimes made on a product requiring so much skill to produce and fraught with so many difficulties and discouragements thru the entire process.

Some system by which we may secure in the main at least a little steadier market is one of the big problems that should engage the minds of those interested in the betterment of the general live stock conditions. Variations of close to a dollar in one session of the market and around two dollars in a week on any kind of live stock show too plainly a concerted action, tending to discourage the entire trade.

Producers may keep on standing for rough handling in that manner, as they did so many years in the selling of their grain. But now, they have proven their ability to handle their own business in a most successful manner, realizing that wherever the co-operative farmers elevator is, the average returns to the grain farmer in those localities are much greater than where there are individual interests to handle the grain only, and little or no competition.

I believe that co-operative killing plants for the live stock producers could be made as successful as uniting the interests of the grain farmers have already proven beneficial.

In this manner would it not be possible to help steady the market? For distributions of the product to the people in accordance with the demand is surely the secret.

So, if we can here and there all over the country or altogether in one

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that and was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female trouble and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. Hardly Able to Move.

Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. QUESTIONS ABOUT FOOD.

Answered by Alfred W. McCann, Q. Is it true that cheese is one of the most digestible of foods? This statement was made, I believe, in a bulletin issued by the Department of Commerce in 1913. If it is true why do I have a bilious attack every time I eat cheese?

Here are the facts. Nothing is to be gained by winking at them except the perpetuation of the abuses which they disclose, altho for telling the truth I shall be roundly cursed in certain quarters tomorrow.

Handicapped and discouraged by inadequate facilities, the Health Department, which goes to so much trouble to shut out bad milk in the fluid state, permits the same condemned product to enter the city without restriction the moment it becomes solid butter or cheese.

If the decent cheesemakers, and there are many of them, were to get together and form an association for the purpose of establishing a cheese standard based on cleanliness, safety, pasteurization, and quality, I believe the public would respond by showing such a preference for this wholesome and knowable article of food at the expense of the go-as-you-please product of doubtful origin that it would be only a matter of a year or more before all cheese would be fit for the gods.

Having seen the abuses which dignified federal and state authorities with high sounding titles find it convenient not to see, I prefer to know something more about the cheese I buy than the poor grocer is able to tell me.

Now that you have the facts, and seem to be a lover of cheese, I pray that you will add your voice to mine in behalf of cheese decency, even tho the task be a thankless and an unpleasant one. Only by such methods can we get cheese as good as the money that purchases it.

Q. In your series of food articles now running in The Globe you speak of the necessity of food minerals to the health of the body. Where in the name of high heaven are we to get these food minerals? I am impatient for the answer.

A. If you will continue to follow the articles as you find them Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays you will learn all that you ask and much more.

It is my purpose to give you a complete list of the natural versus the denatured foods just as soon as I have made it clear that my statements in this regard are not the utterances of a faddist, but actual fact—proof facts fortified by evidence so conclusive that it cannot be controverted.

If you regard the issue of well nourished bodies endowed with disease-resisting vitality as of sufficient importance to follow its development point by point, I am sure you will agree with me that I am pursuing the only course from which permanent results are to be looked for.

Your impatience is a good sign, but let it be reasonable.

CAMELS OF THE DESERT.

Their Peculiar Adaptability to Life in the Sandy Wastes.

The camel thrives only in desert regions. And herein lies its usefulness to man, for by its means alone is he enabled to cross barren tracts otherwise impassable. This ability to live without water and with little food for long periods is due to two natural reservoirs. Water is stored in special pockets in the lining of the stomach, while a large mass of fat is stored on the back, forming the characteristic hump, though, according to popular belief, it is here that the water is held.

Though it will manage to subsist for long periods on the thorny scrub such as forms the only vegetation of desert areas and with very little water, its complacency in these matters may be overtaxed, as was disastrously shown during the first expedition to Khartum.

Two other factors in the adaptability of the camel to a desert life have to be taken into account. These are the feet and nostrils. The first named have but two toes, protected by very thick, horny pads to resist the burning sand, while the nostrils are long and slitlike and can be closed at will, thereby enabling the animal to survive the awful sandstorms which so frequently endanger the lives of travelers in these inhospitable regions.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

ATLAS AND HIS LOAD.

It Was the Heavens, Not the Earth, the Titan of Mythology Upheld.

Strictly speaking, "atlas" is a misnomer for a map book, since it was not the world, but the heavens, that the Atlas of mythology upheld. Mercator, the famous Dutch geographer, who made globes for Emperor Charles V. of Germany, was the first to use the name in this connection, choosing it as a convenient and in some sort an appropriate title, because Atlas, the demigod, figures with a world upon his shoulders as a frontispiece of some early works on geography.

Atlas, it was said, made war with other Titans upon Zeus and, being conquered, was condemned to bear heaven upon his head and hands. Later tradition represented him as a man changed by means of Medusa's head into a mountain, upon which rested heaven and all its stars.

In any case, Atlas was always associated with a heavy burden strongly borne. Thus Shakespeare makes Warwick say to Gloucester, "Thou art no Atlas for so great a weight."

It is not difficult to see how by an association of ideas this came to be chosen as the name for a book of maps which upholds and exhibits to us the whole world.

An Eccentric Bishop.

Bishop Wilson of Calcutta had as housekeeper a venerable lady who remembered the duel between Sir Philip Francis and Warren Hastings on Aug. 17, 1780. On entering the cathedral on a Sunday morning, fully robed, lawn sleeves and all, and passing the pew where the old lady sat he would pause and give her the "kiss of peace" before all the congregation, and this although he had met her at breakfast.

His sermons, too, were racy. Preaching against dishonesty, especially in horseflesh, as one of the great English failings in India, he went on, "Nor are we, servants of the altar, free from yielding to this temptation." Pointing to the occupant of the reading desk below him: "There is my dear and venerable brother, the archdeacon, down there. He is an instance of it. He once sold me a horse. It was unsound. I was a stranger, and he took me in."

Golf Defined.

On the terrace of a country club a group of nongolfers were taking tea. A male nongolfer said thoughtfully: "Golf might be defined as billiards gone to grass."

"Spleen on the green, I'd call it," said a female nongolfer. "Or the last flicker in the dying fire of athletics," sneered a young football player.

"The misuse of land and language," suggested a tennis champion.

"No, no; you're all wrong," said a famous angler. "Golf is simply a game wherein the ball lies badly and the player well."—Washington Post.

The Burglar's Prayer.

Sir Herbert Risley, speaking of the castles of eastern Bengal at a meeting of the Royal Anthropological Institute, said a curious system of religious worship prevailed among a caste who were professional burglars. They made a space in the ground, and a man then cut his arm and prayed to one of the earth gods that there might be a dark night and that he might succeed in obtaining great booty and escape capture.—London Standard.

That Face!

"Look me straight in the face and tell me you really love me," he said warmly to the sweet young thing who stood in front of him with downcast eyes.

"Oh, I couldn't do that," came from the lips of the clever girl.—Yonkers Statesman.

The Cause.

"What is the cause of social unrest?" "The desire," replied Mr. Dustin Stax, "of the workman for leisure and of the leisurely man for something to keep him busy."—Washington Star.

So Thoughtful.

IF WE WILL BE GOOD NO ARMY OR NAVY WILL BE NEEDED

Pacifists Would Leave to Foreign Judgment the Question How "Good" We Should Have to Be—France, Belgium, Greece and China Were "Good".

(From the Spokane Spokesman-Review.)

"If we conduct ourselves in a neutral way," asserts Senator Wesley L. Jones, "none of the countries engaged in it (the present war) will want to go into a contest with us."

Pretty much the same view is taken by President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University: "No people will be hostile to us unless we, by our conduct, make them so."

President Butler thinks that the functions of our army and navy should be confined to "police, philanthropic and sanitary" service, and that we "should put behind us forever the notion that we must arm in peace as a preventive of war."

The whole pacifist case for unpreparedness hinges on that opinion. If it were true that no people will be hostile to us unless, by preparedness, we make them so, preparedness would be wanton waste and folly, for we have no aggressive designs on the territorial integrity of any country anywhere. We do not covet our neighbor's lands. We have undeveloped territory and resources sufficient for five times as many people as now dwell under the stars and stripes.

We Are Neutral, Yet We Are Attacked.

But it is not true. We have been scrupulously neutral thruout this war. We have not taken a single alien life nor tried to take one. We have not interfered anywhere with the trade and commerce of the world. We have been so scrupulous in our efforts to obey the law of nations that the belligerent governments have not even lodged an accusation that we have in any way violated international law.

We have been more than neutral; we have been chivalric and generous. Our people have given enormously to fund and organizations laboring in the war zones to mitigate the horrors of war—to nurse the wounded, to feed the famished, to care for the refugees.

Yet we are attacked on land and on sea. Our women and children have been slain; our lawful cargoes have been confiscated; our lawful ships have been halted at the cannon's mouth and men under the protection of the flag taken off and imprisoned. As Mr. Roosevelt is pointing out, during the last three years "more of our citizens have been killed by Mexicans, Germans, Austrians and Haitians than during the entire Spanish war."

We Can't Leave Our Rights to Others.

The whole anti-preparedness case of pacifists like Mr. Butler and Mr. Jones stands on the assumption that we can safely leave our rights, interests and national safety to the sense of justice of foreign nations; that always all of these foreign governments will look at American rights, liberties and interests as we look at them.

This is analogous to saying that an American citizen need never defend his interests in an American court of law. That no one will ever sue him unless by his conduct he invites suit. That if he has large property interests he need not spend money for legal defense, because he can safely and confidently yield his judgment and his sense of justice to the sense of justice of every other man and woman living in his judicial jurisdiction.

President Butler and Senator Jones say, in the first place, that none of the other nations of the world will attack us if we are neutral and do not attack them, and, in the second place, they will not have the strength or the resources to attack us when the European war is done.

"Not one of the belligerents will be able to attack any other country for a generation if it wanted to," says President Butler. "Even the most military of European states, at the end of this war, will find itself as Serbia and Bulgaria found themselves after the long struggle in the Balkans."

There Will Be Plenty of Fighting Punch Left.

That was an unfortunate illustration for Mr. Butler. Since it was uttered Bulgaria, the country which he thought exhausted in the Balkan wars, exhausted for a generation, has plunged into the Greek fray as an ally of the central powers.

The exact converse of that reasoning is true. As Maj. Gen. Wood told the senate military committee Wednesday, "there is going to be an weakness abroad after this war is over. You will find that more male children will have been born than have been killed or injured."

Japan has been in three wars in the last dozen years, and is better prepared than ever.

A century ago, quoting it in "The Art of Ignorance," Europe watched complacently the self-devastation of France. The monarchy had been murdered; the nobility guillotined; commerce ruined; manufactures destroyed; the countryside was a tangled thicket presided over by a half-starved and tattered people. The wealth of the nation had gone up in the bonfire of the republic. Suddenly a little sallow man took hold of these famished people, this nation devoid of commerce, manufactures or revenues, and with its poverty conquered the whole of incredulous Europe.

Take the Wonderful Rise of Japan.

Take a more recent instance, Japan. "Only a few years since, on some mountainous islands, a people little known fought among themselves with weapons as primitive as those of the siege of Troy. Their entire revenues were less than those of an American city, the cultivable land of the whole empire less than one-half the area of Illinois. Suddenly they also rose up, and with the perennial power of poverty, in less than one decade dismembered the two vainest and vastest empires on earth, causing the whole world to whisper in old and staid wonder at this new sun that rose with the suddenness of an unknown comet out of the eastern sea."

Opponents of preparedness ask this nation to lean on a broken reed, for surely this war affords sufficient proof that the pacifist belief that a peace-seeking country is immune from attack is a shattered reed. The case of Belgium is a powerful exhibit against that doctrine. The case of China is yet another. And the case of Greece supplies the latest proof.

PASSAVANT HOSPITAL BENEFIT IS CONCERT OF HIGH ORDER

Miss Helen Phelps is Greeted With Warm Appreciation in Home-Coming Appearance—Miss Rowe Heard in Reading.

With the music loving people of Jacksonville present in large number and the highest degree of appreciative interest at all times manifest, the Passavant hospital benefit concert given in the auditorium of State Street Presbyterian church Thursday night by Miss Helen Rebecca Phelps, pianist, assisted by Miss Millicent E. Rowe, reader, proved unusually delightful and altogether successful. The church was well filled and the welcome extended Miss Phelps and Miss Rowe was at once warm and sincere. Miss Phelps has just returned from an extended period of music study with Gerhard in Boston and the greeting extended her and Miss Rowe bespoke the high regard in which these young women of talent have come to be held.

Miss Phelps began her musical education in Jacksonville. For several years she was a student of Mrs. Mathilde Coleau at Illinois Woman's college. She took her last year of work with Edmund Munger at Illinois Conservatory of Music and went thence to Boston for further study.

Miss Phelps' first appearance in Jacksonville was highly successful. She possesses a degree of grace and charm peculiarly her own. With her natural gifts are combined a fluent technique and delightful touch.

Miss Rowe was heard in three readings of a high degree of merit. Especially noteworthy was her rendition of two poetic descriptions of Alaskan life by Robert W. Service. The program follows:

The Voice of the Child

Hear me mothers and heed my plea.

I came to you a divine gift.

I am absolutely dependent on you.

Look into my innocent baby face, my two trusting blue eyes and ask yourself—are you performing the duty you owe to my Maker?

Are you giving me the chance to be physically strong, mentally bright and morally clean.

Above all are you sure that my little feet (in their soft, plastic state) are being properly clad?

Look once again—be not too sure.

Am I fretful? Do I walk awkwardly, a pained look upon my face?

Am I inclined to want to sit down? Are my little feet inclined to be ill-shaped?

Then take me to capable men, who, thru years of study and experience, realize the importance of the proper care of growing feet.

Would you neglect my feet, have them ill-shaped, commencing foot-troubles that will torture me all my days, that will interfere with my comfort and happiness all through life?

Then heed my plea; look into my shoe-comfort right now. This is the accepted time.

Will people point you out as a mother whose carelessness cost her child one of its greatest blessings—good feet?

Think not that I mean other mothers—I am speaking directly to you. Of course you think my feet are all right. But are you absolutely sure? If there remains the slightest doubt in your mind you owe it to humanity and me to have my feet examined and properly fitted by experts.

We use great care in fitting children's feet and carry large assortments of healthful shoes. An exclusive children's foot-wear department.

FIFTY MERCHANTS JOIN IN PLANS FOR OPENING

ANNUAL SPRING EVENT WILL EXCEED PAST RECORDS.

Preparations Beginning For Formal Beginning of Spring Season Thursday, March 16—Special Lighting Arrangements on Eve of Opening.

Fifty Jacksonville merchants have joined the list of those who will participate in the third annual spring opening and already preparations are beginning for a record breaking day in the way of large displays, well arranged exhibits of stylish goods and handsomely decorated windows, next Thursday, March 16. The number of merchants who have signified their intention of arranging decorative displays and offering special music and other entertainment features for the benefit of patrons, promises well for the day's success. Last year spring opening day was observed in a successful manner by thirty-seven merchants and this year's increase is gratifying to all concerned.

It has been suggested that all merchants taking part arrange for the lighting of windows on Wednesday, the evening before the opening. This rule will be observed especially on the square and it is the plan to have no unlighted fronts along the square on that evening.

Thursday will be observed as the opening day and will be welcomed as an opportunity for comparison of values and inspection of spring styles in all lines of goods, many of the business houses plan to preserve their exhibits for the rest of the week. Many farmers and residents of nearby towns who may be for some reason delayed, will thus have an opportunity of seeing the displays.

Spring openings have met with marked success in many cities and to such an extent has the custom grown that opening day is now regarded as the formal beginning of business in many spring lines. Secretary Rodgers has been very active the past few days in promotion of the opening and prospects for a successful day are of the best.

INTEREST IN REVIVAL HEIGHTENS AS MEETINGS NEAR CLOSE

Rev. Mr. Stephens Speaks to Large Audience, Taking as His Subject: "Mrs. Lot"—"Ladies Night" is Beautiful Service.

The First Baptist church was more than crowded last night, all seats were taken and many were standing. It was known as ladies night and the members of the big choir were dressed in white. Members of the Helen Rawling's Chapter of The World Wide Guild served as ushers, they were as follows: Misses Beulah Dyer, Helen Shreve, Elizabeth Laurie, Harriet Story, Mildred Brown and Louise Guyette. By special request the big choir sang: "All Hail Immanuel." Mr. Allen sang: "Just As I Am" to a beautiful tune known as "Rosary" and at the close of the sermon sang "So Near To the Kingdom." Mrs. Mary Hart, and Eva Mae Breitwiser sang a beautiful duet entitled, "Blessed Light of Home", the music of which was composed of Mr. Charles Marsh, an old friend and co-worker of Mr. Allen. The big choir was well up to perfection and rendered some special numbers.

At the close of the service a number attended the Red Book meeting and nine more conversions, making the total number of converts, to date seventy-three.

Tonight will be known as Everybody's Night. It was announced that Mr. Stephens would preach on "Nearly Saved" but by request the topic has been changed, and will be: "Christ's Second Coming." Mr. Allen will sing a solo on the second coming of Christ and will also give another song recently composed by himself. This service will be the last of the week night meetings, and a ten cent offering will be received.

The service will close on Sunday. At 10:45 a. m. a special meeting will be given to young christians on "How to Succeed as a Christian." At 2:30 p. m. Mr. Stephens and Mr. Allen will take charge of the service at the Mission. At 7:30 p. m. the topic will be "Changing Places With God."

The subject last night was: "Mrs. Lot." Taking as his text, Luke 17: 32. Mr. Stephens pointed out, we should remember that Mrs. Lot was in a doomed city, and so are we, that she had Godly relatives; and so may we; that she was warned to flee, as we are warned; that she almost saved and yet perished.

The closing illustration given was of a ship going to pieces on the New Zealand Coast, a little girl was separated from her parents and as the boats were being lowered she sprang into the sea crying "Save Me Next." All were urged to make that their prayer, Lord Jesus save me next.

BABYLONIAN KINGS.
Volumes Thousands of Years Old Given a Library.

St. Paul, Minn., March 9.—Dr. John Wright, pastor emeritus of the Episcopal parish of St. Paul's-on-the-Hill, who spent years in research work in Europe and Asia, announced today that a woman donor who wishes her name withheld from publication, will present to the St. Paul public library fifty of the choicest volumes in the royal library of the ancient Babylonian kings, 500 years before Christ.

An oriental scholar is translating the inscriptions on the old "books," which are in the form of clay tablets. The characters are those used by the people of Western Asia as early as 2,000 B. C., Dr. Wright said.

The University of Chicago a few years ago sent to Babylon an expedition under Dr. Edgar L. Banks, which discovered the sites of the ancient libraries," said Dr. Wright. One of Dr. Banks' coworkers made a private collection of tablets which he recently decided to sell as he was entering the war, and the St. Paul woman bought it.

One tablet is a contract bearing the name of Darius, king of Babylon from 520 to 514 B. C. Another is signed by Cambyses in the second year of his reign, 528 B. C. Still another is from Nabonidus, king of Babylon from 555 to 538 B. C.

A Top-Coat for All Year Round

The Hudder from all standpoints is the best overcoat before the public today.

It is a garment every man should have in his wardrobe three hundred and sixty-five days in the year.

Why?

It meets every requirement of an overcoat.

It has advantages which no other overcoat possesses.

The extreme lightness of its knitted fabric—its great flexibility; it can be crumpled, battered or wrapped into a traveling bag, and as soon as you don it, the Hudder resumes its stylish, pressed appearance, and its excellent wearing qualities—are features which combine to make it not only the greatest spring overcoat, but the best all-year-round garment ever produced.

The shades are genteel.
